

Ms. Corinne Jacobson joined Great Hearts in 2012 as a Biology and Life Science teacher at Arete Preparatory Academy after finishing her graduate studies in Biology at Arizona State University. She formerly served as the Head of Middle School, Dean of Students and Assistant Headmaster, working closely with students, teachers and families, over her eight years with the Arete community. She has also served as Interim Headmaster at Arete Prep and completed headmaster training over the last three years. Before her time at Great Hearts, Ms. Jacobson taught Developmental Anatomy Lab at ASU, completed and published research on mammalian development, and worked as an editor for the Embryo Project Encyclopedia. Prior to that, she worked as a respite and rehabilitation worker for children with disabilities.

As an Arizona native, she grew up in North Phoenix and currently resides in the Mesa/Tempe area with her husband and two sons, one of whom attends Archway Arete. Ms. Jacobson is excited to join the North Phoenix community to continue serving Great Hearts families and faculty in their pursuit of the true, good and beautiful.
